THE INTERSTATE COMMISSION DEBATES TO KNOW SOMETHING

About How They Are Issued by Certain Companies, and Summons the Companies to Appear and Explain.

Delayed Train. See p. 1. Late R. & D. Train No. 32, 9:40 p. m. 3:35

WASHINGTON, April 17.—The Interstate Commerce Commission has issued an order appointing twenty-seven railroad companies to appear before the commission in its office in this city, on the 30th of May next, to answer and set forth before the commission the persons and classes of persons, if any, to whom each of them, respectively, have issued free passes or free transportation, to persons other than its own officers and employees and officers and employees of other railroad companies, and all conditions and limitations connected therewith in each instance, and how they do this branch of their business.

THE COMMISSION'S ORDER.

The order of the commission in this instance also says:

As it is intended to make this investigation full and complete, each of said carriers will save time and expense by bringing with it its records a true and correct list of the names of all persons, by whom it has issued free passes or free transportation, whether on its own officers or employees or officers and employees of other railroad companies, and by whom it has issued free passes or free transportation, and the time of such issuance, and the names of the persons to whom such passes or free transportation were issued, and the purpose of such issuance, and to set forth the same by proper proof, and said investigation will relate to the details of all this kind of business done by each of said carriers.

Only three of the railroads on the list penetrate any part of the southern states. They are the Baltimore and Ohio, New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk, and the Pennsylvania.

INQUIRY ABOUT COMMISSIONS.

Another long list, of about a million, is called upon to appear on the 1st of May next to answer and set forth before the commission the persons and classes of persons, if any, to whom each of them, respectively, have issued free passes or free transportation, to persons other than its own officers and employees and officers and employees of other railroad companies, and all conditions and limitations connected therewith in each instance, and how they do this branch of their business.

THE DEAD ENGINEER.

Local Notes.

Col. J. L. Sago, of the Georgia Pacific, came up from Birmingham yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Peyton Randolph, general manager of the Richmond and Danville road, passed through the city yesterday en route from Birmingham to Washington city.

Mr. C. F. Preston, traveling car agent of the Richmond and Danville road, with headquarters at Washington, D. C., was in Atlanta yesterday.

The following lines were written in memory of George H. Gilson, who lost his life in a collision of trains, on the East Tennessee, March 26. They are from the pen of a brother engineer:

Thy task is ended, thy worldly race is run,
Thy duty to thyself and others has been nobly done.

The last great debt that thou didst ever owe is paid,
And that debt is left to us to mourn the dead.

No titles grace thee for thy honest name,
Among earth's champions was known to fame.

But thou hast earned a laurel in thy sphere,
A monarch in thy station, thou fearless engineer.

The manner of thy death was sad, 'twas not said
That thou didst lay thy burden down to be laid.

Thou didst not find death at thy side,
With lever, bar, and back, and slipping wheels on guide.

We miss thee from the iron rail,
Thy words of welcome, and warm pressure of thy hand.

And thy name from off the Board announced to drive,
On day Express, with wings of steam the "One Fifty-Eight."

No more we'll see the rushing through the land,
And throttle will no more again move obedient to the hand.

But the great road is still a monument to thee,
For thou didst rock the cradle of its infancy.

Alas we never can call thy spirit back,
Since death has swung his red light over thy track.

His side track has caught thy listening ear,
His side track has caught thy listening ear.

RYAN'S GRAND RALLY.

John Ryan's Sons Have Struck the Key Note for Spring Sales.

Since last Monday morning there has been a grand rush at John Ryan's Sons big dry goods establishment.

These enterprising merchants have struck the key note in spring sales.

They were carrying a heavy stock of new goods of the latest styles and most liberal prices, and they determined to see just how much they could sell by pushing things.

So, on Monday morning there appeared in big black type local advertisements for twenty-five clerks and five cash boys.

By the time the lines had fairly opened there was a steady stream of customers moving up and down White hall, and they thronged the counters at Legan's.

Over $100 worth of beautiful goods were borne away by pleased and happy customers before the electric lights blazed along White hall on that day.

The advertisements appeared next day, and although the offer to pay railway fare to the out-of-town customers was announced to hold over for thirty days, the rush increased rather than abated.

All day long Tuesday the ladies came and went, and the sales increased enormously.

SUPREME COURT.

DECISIONS RENDERED WEDNESDAY, APRIL 17, 1889.

L. E. Bickley, Chief Justice—Reported for the Constitution by Peoples and Stevens, Supreme Court Reporters.

Blanford, J., was provisionally prevented from presiding in these cases.

Jenkins et al. vs. Jenkins, Alimony, from Fulton. Evidence. Husband and wife. Witnesses. Verdict. Presumptive. Before Judge Marshall J. Clarke.

Bickley, C. J.—1. Where the direct evidence touching the fact of an alleged marriage is conflicting, and the parties to such marriage affirming and the other denying that it took place, and where all the material circumstances, save the fact that the party denying it contracted a subsequent marriage with a third person, which was regularly solemnized, go to support and corroborate the affirmative witness, a finding by the jury to the effect that the testimony of that witness was true, is not contrary to evidence or to law.

2. The presumption of law, founded on cohabitation and reputation, that a marriage had taken place, will not prevail over proof of a subsequent marriage in fact by one of the parties with a third person; but notwithstanding such proof, the defendant's evidence, as well as that of the plaintiff, may be used to establish the actual occurrence of such prior marriage as matter of fact to be found by the jury.

Judgment affirmed.

John A. Wimpy, for plaintiff in error. R. J. Jordan, contra.

Allen vs. Brown et al. Trover, from Douglas, Levy and sale. Estoppel. Officers. Evidence. Interrogatories. Executions. Possession. Nonsuit. Before Judge Richard H. Clark.

Simmons, J.—1. Where a defendant's property is levied on and properly advertised, as was done in this case, and the defendant, by its failure to answer, prevents the plaintiff from being able to find out the value of the property, the plaintiff is entitled to a judgment for the value of the property as sold, without giving notice or raising any objection, he is not precluded from doing so.

2. The property in question, being personal property, and the record not showing how many years elapsed after the sale in 1873 before this suit was brought, it was not inequitable, on the trial in 1888, for the plaintiff to put in possession of the property at the time the action was brought, a non-suit was properly awarded. Code § 3628.

3. Cases in 79 Ga. 354, and 49 Ga. 323, distinguished.

Judgment affirmed.

T. W. Latham and R. A. Massey, for plaintiff. J. S. James, for defendant.

Hamilton vs. Phillips et al. Complaint for land, from DeKalb County. Husband and wife. Before Judge Richard H. Clark.

Simmons, J.—1. The verdict was contrary to the evidence.

2. When a widow elects to take dower in the estate of her husband, and it is assigned to her, that election estops her from claiming a child's share of the estate, and which belonged to her husband at the time of his death. She may still assert her right to dower therein, but she cannot claim a child's share, having once made her election, she is bound by it.

Judgment reversed.

ABOUT THE STATION.

A YOUNG WOMAN WHO CAME FROM ROSWELL.

A case in which the names of a Married Man and a Young Girl Figure—People Who Are Wanted by the Officers—Other News in Police Circles.

"That's Martha Cochran." The speaker was a young man named W. S. Wood, from Roswell, Ga. The girl alluded to is the Miss Cochran that figured in a sensational runaway marriage not more than three months ago.

The speaker was a distant relative of the girl, and was sent to Atlanta to find her. His search has been long and tedious, and all but hopeless.

With these two in a room on Bell street, were Captain Couch, Sergeant Moss, Patrolman Polio, and a number of girls, inmates of the house.

"Do you know this young man?" asked Captain Couch.

"No," she said without looking up.

"Why, you know me," said the young man, surprised. "Your father wants you, and told me not to come back without you. Uncle John has been hunting everywhere for you. You know him."

"Are you married?" asked Captain Couch of the girl.

"What is your husband's name?"

"Mr. C. F. Barnduff."

"Where is he now?"

"Don't know, sir."

"How long since you've seen him?"

"A long time."

"Will you go on home now without any more trouble?"

"I'll go with my husband, if I go at all."

"Who is Barnduff?"

"I don't know, sir. He's my husband."

"What does he do for a living?"

"He's a drummer."

"Who for?"

"Don't know, sir."

The girl, it is said, has been sick and dispirited for some time past, frequently threatening to kill herself. It was an easy matter to coax her from her promise to return home. She came to her father's home, where she was met by her mother and her father. Her father is a gray-haired old man. Her relatives are all well. She is now at home being about three miles from Roswell.

About three months ago accounts were published of a runaway marriage near Roswell. The girl was Miss Cochran, and the man a drummer who was unknown there. She was probably met him in Atlanta. It was never known positively that the two were married, though the girl's character was such that nobody in Roswell doubted that she had really been married.

It seems doubtful now. In fall probability the drummer's real name is not Barnduff, and the girl was never married.

She is remarkably pretty, and was well known in the city. She was carried last night to a private boarding house on Decatur street, and will leave for home this afternoon.

He Was Already Married.

In a cell at police headquarters last night slept James Young, of West Point, Ga.

And on the West Point train last night a young woman named Bobbie Bain left with her father for their home near West Point.

The following letter, received at the station house several days ago, explains the nature of the charge against Young.

West Point, Miss., Chambers Co., Ala., April 12, 1889.—About the 1st of January, 1889, James Young, of this place, left his wife and child and went to Atlanta. When he had been in the city for some time he was arrested on the charge of being a vagrant. He has never written to his family since he left.

Saturday night a young woman named Bobbie Bain left home without the consent of her parents and went to Atlanta, and it is supposed that she has gone to see to see if she can find her father. That they will marry or live together.

James Young's wife is a good woman, and he deserves her without a cause. When he left his child was six weeks old.

The police investigating the matter and arrested Bob. Bain's name was telegraphed for, arriving yesterday.

Young will probably be carried back to West Point today or tomorrow.

He says that there is absolutely no truth in the charge.

John T. Seals is Gone.

John T. Seals, the assistant baggage-master at the union passenger depot, has left Atlanta. Mr. Seals was a young man, twenty or twenty-two years of age, and pretty well known about every time I think about it. He sold ten or twelve lots that way, getting a small cash payment in each case. He was to meet me in Marietta on a certain day and make out the deeds. We were to go to Marietta on the day appointed, but never heard of him except through the papers.

He worked the same thing here in Atlanta, selling a number of lots to negroes at very small prices. He actually moved three or four small houses and then sold them. He's the bestest thief that ever worked in Atlanta.

Look out for him. He's a real one. The sheriff Patterson offered a reward of $25 for a Swede that broke jail in Bainbridge Saturday night.

The escaped prisoner is traveling in Georgia now, and is a professional thief and dangerous man. He is twenty-eight years old, 5 feet 10 inches, weighs 160 to 170 pounds, speaks good English with slight accent, three upper front teeth out, very light hair and mustache, receding forehead, hair thin, bald in front, is a paper hanger and varnishes furniture. The varnishing trade is a mere blind and gives him an opportunity of arranging his plans to rob and steal.

Police Pointers.

A bunch of keys are waiting at police headquarters for an owner. They were found on Broad street yesterday afternoon.

TWO NOTABLE EVENTS.

BOTH OF WHICH TOOK PLACE IN ATLANTA YESTERDAY.

The Hightower-Clarke Wedding at Edgewood, and the Cranston-Rankin Wedding at the Central Presbyterian Church—Two Events of General Interest—Other News About Atlanta People.

Two notable weddings took place in Atlanta yesterday, that of Miss Fannie Clarke to Mr. J. B. Hightower, and that of Miss Mary Rankin to Mr. Henry Cranston, Jr.

One of the most beautiful home weddings ever seen in Atlanta was that of Miss Fannie Clarke and Mr. J. B. Hightower, which took place at the home of the bride in Edgewood.

The beautiful grounds were brilliantly lighted and the house was turned into a fairy bower with its rich perfumed blossoms and rail and light.

The front drawing room on the left was trimmed with Virginia creepers and banded on either side with bright geraniums and palms. The mantel was garlanded with geraniums against a background of trailing vines, and at the base were arranged calla lilies and other rare pot plants. The long mirrors on either side of the low window were backed with rare pot plants and delicate vines.

In this room the ceremony was eloquently and gracefully performed by Rev. J. W. Lee, the bride party entering to the strains of the wedding march played by the band.

Mr. W. H. Landon, who acted as best man, placed the bride beneath the arch of the bow window, making a most artistic picture against a background of foliage and flowers. The bride, an ideal picture of youth and beauty, wore a classic and exquisite gown of white satin, demit-train; the front draperies formed by a soft white sash heavily fringed and knotted at one side, the train being of cream silk with high pulled sleeves and duchesse lace, and the veil of white illusion confined to the fair head by diamond pins. In her hands she carried a large bouquet of bride roses and an exquisite white and pink ribbon.

The attendants were Mr. George Clarke and Miss Anna Adams. The two bridesmaids were lovely in their gowns of cream silk with tulle draperies and pink satin slippers, carrying immense bouquets of LaFrance roses tied with long pink ribbons. They wore diamond ornaments.

THOSE WATER RATES.

THE TWO SCALES OF PRICES NOW
BEING CONSIDERED.The Attitude of the Manufacturers Upon the Water Question—What Water Costs the City and What It Brings—Meeting of the Water Board.The water rate to the Atlanta manufacturers is still a bone of contention between the factories and the water board, and an adjustment is not probable just now.Two scales of prices are being considered.
During the session of the general council Monday, the water board presented a communication giving a scale running from seventeen cents a thousand gallons on the first 100,000 gallons a month down to eight cents on the excess of a million and a half gallons per month. Mr. Amos, who has been working industriously for the manufacturers, submitted a substitute placing six cents a thousand gallons on all up to 400, 000, and descending to seven cents
a thousand to consumers of 1,200, 000 gallons. His paper, however, was not received with anything like enthusiasm and with the other went to the waterworks committee of the general council.The manufacturers were watching the result with interest, and yesterday one of them said:
"We must have water cheaper than we get it or we can't go on. Do you know that our water bill is a big item in the cost of a year, and I can't see why the city wants to make any money out of us?""Does she?"
"Well, yes. You see what we pay now.
What do you think it costs the city to give us
the water we pay seventeen cents for?"
"I have no idea.""Well, it costs just three and one-fifth cents a thousand gallons, and I think we ought to get it for seven to eight cents."
"And you can't find any relief in the suggestion from the water board?"
"No. By that report we must pay seven cents for the first 100,000 and so on down that makes it average more than thirteen cents a thousand.""And Mr. Amos's proposition. What of that?"
"It is a little better but not much. It is an average of about 11 cents. If the water costs the city three and one-fifth why not let big consumers have it at twice the rate?""And that is what it costs?"
"Just now yes. See here. The revenue from the waterworks last year was about $10,000. Now, the interest on the bonded debt is about $30,000, while the betterments are $10,000. So, you see, the revenue pays the interest on bonded debt and betterments. Now, the pumping, fuel, cost, about $21,000, and 620,000 gallons are pumped a year. Do your example in division and you have three and one-fifth cents as the cost of 1,000 gallons, and for that we are now paying 17 cents—a profit to the city of 15-1/2 cents. A good investment, isn't it?""Now I use," continued the gentleman,
"200,000 gallons a day, and want 150,000 gallons more. But can't I be heard?"
The question is now fairly before the waterworks committee of the general council, and committee it is understood will meet one day
this week to give the matter a final hearing.
Several manufacturers will appear before the committee and urge a further reduction.The water board convened in regular session yesterday afternoon and worked upon the water rate, but without accomplishing anything.Mr. Haas opened the discussion by moving a reconsideration of a resolution adopted several meetings ago wherein the rates had been fixed.Mr. Erwin presented a substitute for the rates and producing a paper covered with figures asserted that the cost to the city was only four cents a thousand gallons. He then urged that the city could afford to give up the water for twice its cost. The entire matter was referred to a committee.He Has Completed.
Some time ago the water board requested
the general council to pass an ordinance resolving every water consumer of large quantity to notify the secretary of the board when using water. Mr. J. C. Kinnel, the street sprinkler, yesterday complied with the law.Wants to Fix the Artesian Well.
Colonel Baum, who bored the hole in Peachtree street, near Marietta, which he christened the artesian well, wants to work upon the opening again. He now asserts that he can take up the casing and put it down again so as to exclude all surface matter, and the work will make the water pure again. For his work he wants a little less than $5,000. The water board and the general council will consider the proposition.The Clerk's Change.
City Clerk Goldsmith has already begun to arrange his papers for a retirement. He is packing and pigeon-holing documents so that he can leave without any trouble. His succession to which Mr. Goldsmith goes is one of the most important in the municipal government and will year by year become one of the most difficult to fill. Mr. Woodard, who will succeed Mr. Goldsmith, is in all probability the most competent gentleman in the city for the position. The change will take place on the first Monday in next month.
On that day Mr. Goldsmith will be nominated by Mayor Glenn and then he will resign.
Then Mr. Woodard will be elected.Wants Them to Have Phones.
Mr. Hutcheson, of the aldermanic board, is always trying to make a politician's let a happy one. His latest scheme now is to get telephones into the residences of the police captains. He has already asked the council to grant the request, and if he succeeds, Mr. Hutcheson never fails—
the police system will be greatly benefited.Out of Town.
Mayor Glenn has gone to southwest Georgia

Hempfling will handle the city.THEY WILL TRY AGAIN.
Tollison's Tale and Mining Company in Court Once More.
Some time ago G. T. Tollison filed a bill against the Atlanta Tale and Soapstone Mining company, and petitioned for a receiver.
The petitioner claimed that the company was indebted to him for machinery and fixtures to run the company, and that it was insolvent.When the case came up for a hearing it was found that several subpoenas had been issued and notice to file for the legal ten days' defense, and rather than allow the court to dismiss the suit the petitioner withdrew.Yesterday morning the bill was re-filed, and a second time their regularities having been corrected, and it will now come for another hearing before Judge Marshall J. Clarke.J. R. Tollison is secretary of the company, and the petitioner states that when Tollison was approached in regard to the matter, he gave no satisfaction whatever.So say we all of us. Salvation Oil is the IMPERSONATING ANOTHER MAN.

Dr. Stainback Wilson the Victim of an Impostor.Some man over in Alabama has been acting as an impostor.
Dr. Stainback Wilson is the victim of his irregular practice, and would like to know the man who is using his name in a fraudulent manner.Some days ago Dr. Wilson received a letter from Mrs. John E. Wise, of Hickory Springs, Ala., addressed to Dr. Stainback Wilson, Atlanta, Ga., showing that she intended to pay him.Dr. Wilson read with astonishment the letter, which solicited him to visit a patient,
the little daughter of Mrs. Wise, who was suffering with rose cancer.The letter recalled the physician's attention to the fact that he had promised to call if the case did not improve.Dr. Wilson had no patient at Hickory Springs.Although he has been a practicing physician for forty years, and has been in Atlanta twenty years, he has not traveled abroad in pursuit of his calling, and consequently had not been there at all.Puzzled over the affair, he wrote the lady that he had no record of any such case.The lady replied to him yesterday and endeavored to recall to his mind the circumstances, and Dr. Wilson saw at once that somebody else had called there, personating himself as Dr. Wilson, and had tricked the people with the belief that they were employing a well known specialist, when they were probably putting their trust in a quack of some sort.The letter recalls the fact that whoever the person may have been, called at her home on a Sunday evening, in company with a gentleman from Macon, and that she paid him thirty dollars for medicines. He promised to return, if the symptoms were not abated, if it cost him fifty dollars.Yesterday Dr. Wilson wrote to the lady that she had been the victim of an impostor.One thing that makes the fraud more patent is the fact that there have been three or four times, at one time, four
"Dr. J. S. Wilsons" in Atlanta, Dr. J. Stain-
back Wilson, to avoid vexatious mistakes, dropped the "J" in his advertisements and in the large amount of circulars that he sends out, leaving the name plainly "Dr. Stainback Wilson." The fact that the letter was thus addressed is conclusive proof that it was not a mistake, but a deliberate attempt to imperson-ate another on the part of some man who sought to obtain money at the expense of another man's name and reputation.Humors run riot in the blood at this season.

ence of a malarious atmosphere and miasmata-tainted

Samuel W. Goode & Co.To the Editors Constitution:
Gentlemen: On last Saturday, April 14th, I announced to the people of Atlanta through the columns of your most valuable paper that I would give fifteen per cent of my business on that day to the home for Confederate veterans, and I am happy to say that while my anticipation was not realized that I will have a fine sum to present to the soldiers home. The crowd was immense. The people came from all over the city. The side walks in front of my store were crowded for nearly a block, the rush was so great and around my store that two policemen had to be detailed to keep the side walk in front of my house clear. You could hear the ladies say "other fellows are doing no business this day. Another lady would say "Duffy is doing all the grocery business today, and another one would say, I am going to give him all my grocery business from this out, and a great many more pleasant remarks which pleased me very much. Now, Mr. Editor, I don't propose to let you know the amount that I am to give the home at the present time, and my reasons for so doing is this: Some of them other fellows will have to imitate me if they knew the amount I realized. They might give a little more so as to be ahead of me whether they done the business or not but I will give them until Saturday and if they don't follow me I will give you the amount in time to be published next Sunday. It is hope that them other fellows will not be satisfied bored but do some good in this world for I pity them when they leave here. I now conclude by thanking the people who responded to my call to help the helpless. We, as a people, ought to do more good than we do. There is several charitable institutions in this city who ought to have more help than they get and I for one will help them whenever called on to do so.J. J. DUFFY,
